

Halloween

We know that most people love halloween,

The dressing up and making folk scream.

We know to most it's just a good laugh,

Ghosts and ghouls, spiders and bats.

But the world is already a scary place,

And frightening kids isn't what we embrace.

We feel our job's to protect and encourage,
To love them in safety and help kids to flourish.

"Perfect love" it's said, "casts out all fear"

So we won't celebrate darkness in here.

But come on in and embrace the light,

There's nothing to fear in this place tonight!
